THE CLAIM OF THE DEFENDANT

The Prosecution Abandons the Charge of Murder in the First Degree-Was it Self-Defense?

The case of Woodsen J. Moss was called in the Thira district court yesterday. Mr. Critchlow stated that Mr. Snyder, the prosecuting attorney of Summit county, would be associated with him in prosecut-

The dispute over the nuch talked of W. Wiscomb.

He said that at the outset, the prosecution would not claim the defendant was guilty of any more serious crime than murder in the second derree. They would show that last summer Langton, the deshow that last summer Langton, the de-ceased, and a man named Kearns had a fight. Although Moss was not concerned in this fight he took it up and made threats against Langdon. On the night of the killing, Langton and others were at rhe Capitol saloon in Park City. evening and transacted a batch of over-due business with neatness and dispatch. The only hitch in the proceedings was small-sized tilt between Richard W. Young, who spoke with Blackstonian flavor, and the sage of the board, L. U. Colbath, who had taken counsel at another fount of jurisprudence. The claim of Architect Kletting for drawing the plans of the unbuilt school building was the sub ject of the legal controversy. It will be remembered that Kletting drew the plans for a schoolhouse which the new board thought fell short of the new idea, and they proceeded to knock it in the head with 3 NIGHT'S Saturday Matinee celerity. The contractors have already been paid some $700 upon a contract for which they never did a stroke of work, and Mr. Kletting ciaims $750, of which $550 has been paid, leaving a balance of $500. Mr. Young maintained that he had read the contract and that it was specific that Mr. Kletting should receive 3 per cent, of the building, which was estimated at $20,000. Mr. Colbath had talked with a lawyer who thought differently and said he would oppose paying the bill, as Mr. Kletting was not inclined to a compromise, "but, Jew-like, wanted every dollar of it." The matter was held in abeyance for further legal counsel as to the legality of the claim. REPORT OF THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.
